Juvenile Delinquency Is EVERYBODY'S PROBLEM

We hope that this page will serve as an "OPEN FORUM" for the people of our communities. We are inviting you to write letters which will be published on this page. The alarming rise in juvenile delinquency can be stemmed. So let us talk it over through the columns of this paper. Just sit down and write a letter. What is your idea? We all love these youngsters. What can we do to help straighten them out before they become involved.

This is your "OPEN FORUM" The opinions expressed in the letter and editorials are not necessarily the opinion of the Torrance Press nor of the sponsors who have made this page possible.

WHAT CAN WE DO?

What can we as parents, and the agencies of the law do to prevent juvenile delinquency? First, we must be aware of the problem. Our youngsters must know what to expect at all times from their parents and from their community. The surety of any kind of disciplinary action is far more important than its severity. The key word in handling youngsters is "consistency." By being consistent, we contribute to our youngsters' feelings of security.

Outside of the home, we can direct our attention to the provision of parks and recreational facilities adequate to community needs; realistic approaches to the problems of keeping youngsters engaged in avocational and vocational activities that will keep them off the streets and out of trouble; early psychiatric, psychological and social service facilities for youngsters who show warning symptoms; expansion of programs to cope with groups of juveniles who fall in the "hard-to-reach" categories the potential troublesome groups.

Remember, we are talking about all children—we are talking about your kids and mine. This is everybody's problem, when we talk of the prevention of juvenile delinquency.
